

EGYPTIAN ADVENTURE

Hint Sheet

This hint sheet is designed to give help in locating objects and solving problems - it does not give solutions. Look up the entry in the alphabetical listing and then read the hint under the first number shown. This will usually give a clue, and the second number will give more information. Occasionally there will be a further reference number for more information. There are many false hints included, some of which will mislead you, so beware - only read the clue for the problem or object you need. For answers to specific problems, write to Duckworth at the address shown below, enclosing an sae.

General hints: Always examine everything and don't assume that once you have used something it can be discarded. Some objects may have a use which is not obvious at first. If the program tells you it does not understand something try using other words. Read the description of your surroundings carefully and always save your progress before trying something that might be dangerous.
